A woman's work is hard in many ways. Unless the woman is strong and healthy her work will cause her much distress and pain, and she will suffer from headaches, backaches and side-aches, and each evening will find her utterly worn-out, sick and disgusted with life. In this condition of mind and body she cannot be a loving and reliable companion for her husband when he returns from his work weary too in body and mind.

If a woman wants to live a happy, contented, loving, helpful married life she cannot take too much care of the health and vigor of the organs distinctly feminine, for her general health and strength is largely dependent upon her special health in a womanly way. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription enables a woman to be always well and strong, where a woman most needs health and strength. It acts directly on the important and delicate organs involved in her womanhood and motherhood. It makes the blood pure and healthy. Taken during the period preceding motherhood it banishes the usual discomforts and makes baby's coming easy and comparatively painless. It insures the new-comer's health and provides an ample supply of natural nourishment. It cures all weakness and disease, and headaches, backaches, and side-aches no longer torture her in her work. Over 90,000 women have testified to the wonderful virtues of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. At honest druggists will not try to force on you a substitute for the sake of a few pennies added.

Dr. Pierce's 1000-page "Common Sense Medical Adviser" will be sent free, paper-covered, for a one-cent stamp to the publisher, Dr. J. C. Pierce, Littlefield, N. Y. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

AUNT LIZZIE AIKEN, HEROINE OF WAR AND PEACE.

Insanity in Hairpins.—New York Fashion. Some Famous Beauties.—The Growth of Women's Clubs.—Southern States Recognize Women.

Mrs. Elizabeth Aiken, who is Aunt Lizzie to the Baptist denomination, had her eightieth birthday party on Wednesday evening. Dr. William M. Lawrence presided at the celebration in the Second Baptist church.

Mrs. Aiken belongs to the very oldest of the comers to Fort Dearborn, and with her will pass into history many of the incidents of the religious beginnings in Chicago and Illinois. There are not more than two or three men and women living whose work began with hers.

Mrs. Aiken came from an ancestry of Baptists. One of her first recollections is that of standing with her grandfather in the courthouse of Auburn, N. Y., and singing hymns at the services held by the denomination in the public building in the absence of a church. She was born in that city in 1817. Her mother's name was Ward. It was from this stock that the Revolution got several of its best generals. Her mother led the choir in the first church in Auburn. Her father was a pillar in the church, and from the very beginning the young woman, who afterward became the famous missionary, was surrounded with religious influences.

Her father was a pillar in the church, and from the very beginning the young woman, who afterward became the famous missionary, was surrounded with religious influences. Mrs. Aiken was a girl in the days of spinning and home weaving. She did not like this work, having been spoiled by life in the city. She preferred the Baptist Church under another name. It held 500 wounded men. The disabled from the field of Shiloh were added to this colony.

She was so successful in this work that she was in demand wherever there were wounded, and this was nearly over the entire south. She went from Paducah to Memphis. She seemed to have no thought for herself, and in the thick of the charity she herself fell a victim to exposure and was a patient in Memphis for four weeks.

Aunt Lizzie began her work in this city for the Young Men's Christian association. She was placed in charge of the refuge. The salary was $25 a month, but it was as much as she asked. This lasted for two years, and the money to keep the mission going was exhausted. She established a system of mothers' meetings, at which poor women were taught the art of sewing and self assistance. In the fall of 1867 she began work for the Second Baptist church, being missionary for the Sunday school. It was her task to go out into the streets and homes and search for children who had never been brought under church influences. She distributed clothing to the poor and food to the hungry and continued in this work as long as her physical strength lasted.

Aunt Lizzie lives at 281 Monroe street and is in good health for one who has passed through as many years, and as much work as she. She is alone in the world, all the children having died many years ago and in their infancy. The husband is also dead.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Insanity in Hairpins.

A recent fashion in hairdressing is distinguished by its most singular and unusual origin. It has been adopted to preserve the sanity of the fair women who have had recourse to it. Mental balance, as it has long been suspected and recently strongly affirmed by physicians of repute, is almost always injured and frequently utterly undermined by the wearing of hairpins.

And now that the truth is out women have shown that there is at least one absurd feminine custom to which they are not so indiscreetly bound by vanity that they must forever cling to it. And the very natural wish to retain one's reason has been the means of abolishing the steel hairpin.

The head, argue the scientists who have made a study of this matter, is the most sensitive portion of a woman's anatomy and the one which she frequently abuses the most violently. She is quite likely to fix upon a nerve center as the permanent spot for doing her coiled hair, or persistently to jab with an ugly hairpin the regions which should be kept free from the slightest touch. The back of the head is one of the most sensitive of places, yet from the time a woman first wears long gowns until she dies she willfully ignores and neglects this sensitive spot.

Is it any wonder, then, continue the physicians, that women should have become constitutionally rattle brained, that their reasoning powers should be far inferior to that of men and that thousands of them should be committed to madhouses every year? These causes are calamities not invariably referred to their proper causes, and it is safe to say that a very large proportion of them are attributable to the daily hairpin. When women were first contented with the sentiment of their unadorned shining tresses, they asked a trifling indignantly what could take the place of the hairpin if it were once abolished. Surely it would be impossible for self respecting women of middle age to parade the streets with their empty hair in pigtails. This was admitted, and for a time the matter did look rather dubious.

It was suggested that all women might cut off their hair and wear it in short, loose curls. This, again, did not appeal to the dignified majority, and so the following compromise was hit upon: The hair was to be combed loosely back from the forehead in pompadour style. At the back it was to be arranged in a loose yet cleverly arranged knot and caught in place with a single two pronged, blunt edged shell comb.

When tried, this arrangement was found to work admirably. The absence of steel hairpins made headaches more and more infrequent and the daily coiffure a delightful and gleefully anticipated process. On the other hand, the presence of the shell comb was hardly noticeable and contributed not at all to the wearer's discomfort. And finally the new method was found to be more becoming than any coiffure that had been devised in years. It will undoubtedly be adopted by thousands of women who will rejoice to exorcise the steel hairpins from their homes forever.—New York World.

New York School.

This is to be emphatically a season of transparent fabrics and queer combinations of coloring. Black, fortunately, is still fashionable, but the cheeks, stripes and plaids of the rainbow hue, large meshed materials are somewhat dazzling. In gray and the different wood shades are some exquisite tones, and these, fashion is good enough to decree, need not be sacrificed inevitably to strong contrasts, but may be made up with linings to match or with black or white or some pale yellow. A plaid of brown and yellow is made up over a carise lining and does not look startling, so accustomed are we to vivid contrasts, while a blue—two shades—made up over orange is so successfully treated as to look exceedingly smart. Black over bright china blue is an old favorite, and a gown of black canvas, a basket weave pattern, profusely trimmed with ruffles edged with black satin ribbon, and black satin ribbon on the waist, which has a full front of china blue, was one of the smartest gowns exhibited at a fashionable opening last week.

Red made up over black and with black trimmings to tone down the too vivid effect is smart and for country wear will be very fashionable this summer. For the city red gowns are too conspicuous to be recommended generally. Indeed, in choosing a summer wardrobe, where the gowns are to be worn should be a matter for consideration. Fashion sanctions the wearing of brilliant colors in the city in the spring, but there are many costumes quite suitable for watering places that in town are so marked as to be absolutely vulgar.

A very thin material which has a cord like poplin is one of the newest things, and as yet there is not enough of it to be had for it to become common. In a snuff brown, a charming gown of it is made up over black. The skirt, separate from the lining, is finished with a wide hem, inside of which is a quilling of black satin ribbon, and on the silk lining is a double ruche, which gives a pretty flare. The waist is tight fitting at the back. In front there are four overlapping jackets, the top one of which forms epaulettes over the elbows. Each of these jackets has a quilling of the black satin ribbon inside the edge, and on the outside is a narrow bias band of black satin. A full front of lace makes a charming contrast of color and relieves what might be too dull a tone.

Some Famous Beauties.

In a recently made list of the most lovely women of the present time, Cleo de Merode, the figure dancer, grand opera in Paris, who has long been prince at her feet, is set down as the most perfect. She has a dainty oval face of ivory paleness, gypsy eyes and a Greek forehead and exquisite features. The most lovely of American beauties is Amelia Rives-Chapman, now the Princess Troubetzkoy. The princess is a blond of an unusual type, and is noted for the remarkable purity of her profile and delicacy of her features. She has more beautiful eyes, her admirers, than any other American woman. The coquettish little English beauty, Marie Stucholme, is placed third in the list. Miss Stucholme should be considered the typical "nut brown maid" of England, with her big, expressive brown eyes and clustering dark hair. All true Americans, however, will agree that Mary Anderson de Navarro is not a whit less lovely than Miss Studholme. Mary Anderson's beauty is pure Greek. Her profile is beyond reproach, and this, combined with her broad forehead and her lovely mouth, with its suggestion of interesting melancholy, has made her irresistible to the present generation of theater goers.

Lady Randolph Churchill is also an American girl. Her face is distinguished by its expression of charming womanliness. She is acknowledged to be the most attractive young matron in England. On this side the water, probably the most beautiful society woman is Mrs. T. Sedgwick Taylor of New York. Mrs. Taylor, who is youthful, is a very picturesque woman of a patrician type, with all the charm and dignity of an old world princess. The other beauties, Lily Langtry and the Countess of Warwick, are likewise distinguished for their dignity of bearing. In Mrs. Langtry we have a repetition of the Greek type, and in the Countess of Warwick an excellent example of the patrician fineness of features. Beauties of more recent fame are Miss Lily Langtry and Miss Jane Harding. Miss Langtry is a member of Wilson Barrett's company, and is known to Americans as well as English playgoers. Miss Harding, who is ranked with Lombard and Regine as one of the three greatest actresses in Paris, has also acted in America, and here, as elsewhere, her remarkable beauty has attracted only less attention than her clever art.—San Francisco

SENATOR STEWART'S AMENDMENT.

The condition of the United States Treasury, as officially given out for publication, contained at the close of business last Thursday an available cash balance of $228,633,217, with $145,306,280 in gold in the reserve fund. It has occurred to several that in these times of general depression it is almost criminal to keep so much money locked up in the Treasury vaults, where it draws no interest, and is of no more benefit to the country than if it was buried in the deep bosom of the ocean.

To remedy this evil Senator Stewart has given notice that he will offer an amendment to the tariff bill providing for keeping at all times a reserve fund of $50,000,000 in the Treasury; that when the available cash balance exceeds $50,000,000 the Secretary shall invest the surplus in United States bonds, and when there is less than $50,000,000 in the Treasury the Secretary shall issue legal-tender non-interest bearing notes (greenbacks) to make up the deficiency.

The amendment further provides that the legal-tender non-interest bearing notes be made payable out of any surplus over $50,000,000; that if there be insufficient coin to meet the coin obligations of the Government the Secretary shall exchange silver certificates for coin, which is in the Treasury for their redemption, and that it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to coin sufficient of the silver bullion purchased under the law of July 14, 1890, to supply all deficiencies in the supply of coin to meet and discharge all the coin obligations presented.

What do our Nevada goldbugs think of that? Are they opposed to it, and, if not, have they the manliness to say so? Why keep three or four hundred millions of dollars lying idle in the Treasury when the greater part of it can be put in circulation by buying bonds with it and saving the people from paying interest on these bonds?

The State of Nevada has about $1,350,000 in its school fund. Would it be right for the State Government to keep that money locked up in the Treasury vaults while borrowing money, and paying interest on the debt, to run the public schools? Who among the taxpayers of the State would sanction such a proceeding, and yet it is the method in vogue at Washington? During Cleveland's administration $130,000,000 in bonds were issued for gold. Now the available cash balance in the Treasury is $228,633,217 and there is $145,306,280 in gold, but not a bond is being redeemed.

Senator Stewart proposes to fix the Treasury reserve fund at $50,000,000. When there is more than that in the Treasury the surplus shall be used in purchasing United States bonds, thus reducing the interest bearing debt. When there is less than $50,000,000 in the Treasury, Government non-interest bearing legal-tender notes shall be issued to make up the deficiency, and to supply all deficiencies in coin sufficient of the bullion now stored in the Treasury shall be coined to discharge all coin obligations presented.

Is not that a rational, common sense proposition, and yet there is not the remotest doubt of its being opposed by every goldbug in the Congress of the United States. Its passage would incur the displeasure of the gold trust, as it would deprive the members of that patriotic organization of the opportunity they now enjoy to increase their wealth at the expense of the public and cause them to realize that their contributions to Mr. Hanna's campaign fund, to elect McKinley and a gold Congress, were expended in vain.

The Salvation Army of California is considering the proposition of securing land in the Salinas Valley for its home-stand colony and devoting a large portion of it to the cultivation of sugar beets. The suggestion was made by ex-Mayor Elliott of San Francisco at a meeting where the matter of providing for the unemployed was being discussed. Acting on the suggestion, the Salvationists have taken the project in hand, and Major Winchell of the Army and Mr. Elliott were appointed a committee to confer with Claus Spreckels and the Alvarado Sugar Company.

J. Q. Simpson, a well to do individual, committed suicide near Bennett, Oklahoma, by shooting. He left a note stating he had advised friends to vote for McKinley, assuring them that if he was elected things would improve. As this proved untrue he could not stand the frowns and taunts of his friends whom he advised to vote for the gold-bug and he put an end to his existence. If Nevada and California advocates of McKinley's election were as sensitive and remorseful as Mr. Simpson the Governor would have a busy season.

The beet sugar manufacturers of New York have for five years tried to control the industry there in the form of a trust. Now comes Governor Black of that State and offers a bonus of $25,000 to encourage the manufacture of beet sugar. He proposes to pay a rate not to exceed one cent per pound for every pound of beet sugar manufactured from beets grown in the State and for which the grower received not less than $5 per ton.

GOVERNOR BLACK, of New York, has approved the bill making train wrecking punishable by electrocution when death results from the wreck.

WAR NEWS.

AN ARMISTICE AT TESSALY DECLARED.

The Morgan Resolution Recognizing Cuban Belligerency Passed.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Senators Morgan and Hale, representing the two sides of the Cuban question, have reached an agreement for a vote on the resolution to-day, if the consent of those who wish to speak on the subject can be secured. Hitt of Illinois, replying to Bailey's speech on the Cuban relief measure, stated that the object of Bailey was to obtain a political advantage, and the purpose of the Republicans in power, Hitt said, was to secure peace in Cuba, with independence.

The motion to refer the Morgan resolution to the Foreign Relations Committee was lost. Yeas 39, nays 34.

Senator Thurston finished his Cuban speech by declaring that the United States should send her strongest battleship to Cuba and station her in the harbor of Havana, where her frowning guns might awe the spirit of tyranny and revive hope in those struggling to be free. Elkins followed in opposition to the resolution.

A vote was taken at 3:25 on the Morgan Cuban resolution. The resolution passed the Senate by a vote of 41 to 14.

The interest in the Cuban question was focused upon the House to-day. The House galleries were filled. On the Republican side, more than half the chairs were occupied, many members having returned to the city in response to messages from the chairman of the caucus.

Simpson of Kansas demanded the reading of the full journal, after it had been read in the usual skeletonized form. Under the rules, the Speaker was compelled to grant the request. Then Simpson made a point that it was stated by the journal that certain bills were referred to committees, whereas no committees had been appointed. Simpson was silenced by the previous question, demanded and sustained by the Republicans.

The decks having been cleared, Dalzell, from the Committee on Rules, reported a rule for the consideration of the Senate Cuban relief resolution and providing for a vote after two hours' debate. Bailey thereupon endeavored to secure recognition to present the views of the minority of the committee. The Speaker recognized Dalzell to demand the previous question. There was a sharp skirmish between Reed and Dalzell on one side and Bailey on the other, in the course of which Bailey remarked that he knew that the Republicans did not intend to give the minority any opportunity to be heard.

But he advised them to carry out their program with some degree of decency. Whereupon he was applauded by the galleries. Simpson shouted, "Don't ask for decency from that side." The proposition Bailey was attempting to present was a substitute rule for the consideration of Morgan's resolution for the recognition of the belligerency of the insurgents, which is now before the Senate, after the appropriation for relief had been disposed of.

The House unanimously passed the Cuban relief resolution appropriating $50,000 for food and supplies. Senator Fairbanks' amendment for intervention for Cuban independence and tendering the good offices of this government to that end was tabled by 35 to 15.

The Greco-Turkish War.

BERLIN, May 20.—A telegram received from Constantinople this afternoon says that the effort of the Turkish commander in Epirus to treat with the Greeks for an armistice resulted in failure, owing to the Greeks having ignored the flag of truce and having attempted yesterday, with two battalions of troops, to make a fresh incursion into Turkish territory. The Greeks, it is further stated, also shelled the Turkish position. In conclusion the Constantinople dispatch says the Turkish Government disclaims all responsibility for what may follow.

ATHENS, May 20.—An armistice between the Turkish and Greek troops in Thessaly, to extend seventeen days, was formally concluded to-day.

A Well-Known Young Man.

Mr. Ed. Lachman is one of the best known young men in Reno. The following statement will explain itself:

RENO, September 4, 1896.

"On Saturday last, while wheeling down the steep grade beyond the Mound House, I had a fall which severely sprained the muscles and tendons about my right hip and so bruised my knee that it was swollen, discolored and painful to the touch. That evening I procured a bottle of Trib and applied it. The next day I could walk and ride easily, and after using Trib twice a day for four consecutive days I was completely cured. I never before knew the value of a good liniment. I shall not be without a bottle of Trib hereafter. Use my name if you see fit. Trib is a good article, the knowledge of which I am willing to aid in spreading."

EDMUND D. LACHMAN.

The above was written to the Trib Company eight months ago. Mr. Lachman says that the cure has proved permanent, and that many of his acquaintances have to his knowledge used Trib with advantage.

Ladies' Stationery.

"The most correct thing at present in vogue in ladies' correspondence stationery," says The Woman's Home Magazine, "are pure white, cream and the Bretonne vellum azure. These colors are reproduced in the vellum finished paper, which is at present very popular, and in the regular linen finish paper also much used. The satin finish is used, too, in white, cream, azure and granite."

"Both the address and monogram are seen at the head of the fashionable woman's note paper. In monograms the latest and most popular thing is a small die with illuminated background. These can be finished in any number of colors or combinations, and when the address is used on the same sheet with the monogram it is stamped in the metal or color of the outline of the monogram."

"The proper size of ladies' correspondence paper is octavo. The billet and small billet are used for acknowledgments, acceptances and regrets. For this purpose white or cream heavy-weight vellum is used."

"Calling cards vary little in a general way from year to year, though each season some slight changes in their style may be noted. Last year the thin, flexible 'two sheet' card was de rigueur, but there is a general return this winter to the heavier, more elegant 'three sheet' card of decided firmness. The obvious reason for the adoption of the thin card was its convenience when a great number had to be carried in the cardcase."

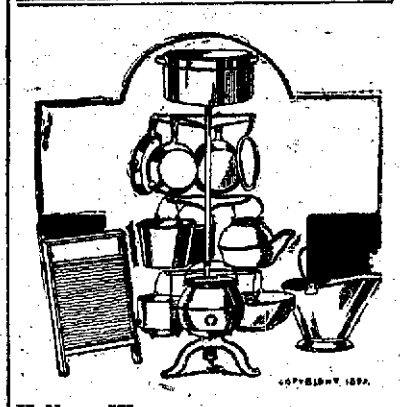

"The sizes of calling cards remain about the same. The correct size for a married lady's visiting card is 3 11-16 by 2 5-16. For an unmarried lady the size is 3 13-16 by 2 15-16, and for a girl's calling card 3 by 2. For gentlemen the universal size is 3 15-16 by 1 7-16."

"Heavy script is still the prevailing style of lettering used upon calling cards. There is, however, a revival of the old fashioned Gothic letter, though it has not yet become popular."

Mrs. B. E. HUNTER, Fourth St.

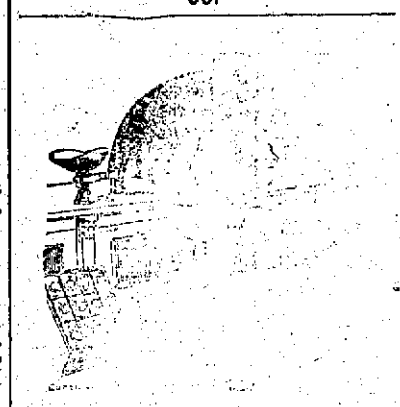

MARRIED.

SCHWARTZ-JACOBS - In Reno, Nevada, May 20, 1897, M. Schwartz to Miss Bertha Jacobs, both of San Francisco.

Hollow Ware should be purchased only at a reliable store. If the quality of the iron is not of standard grade there are defects in the castings. Defects means burnt spots in the iron and burnt spots mean spoiled dinners. Our hollow ware may cost a trifle more than a poorer grade, but it more than earns its cost in the length of service and satisfaction.

NEVADA HARDWARE & SUPPLY CO.

"The Staff of Life" owes its name to the nutriment in the flour of which it is made. Good bread can only be made from good flour. The flour that we handle is the best that money can buy. We charge no more for the best than you have often paid for an unreliable brand. Everything you buy at Boat's Model Grocery is guaranteed to be first class.

Sacramentoans are endeavoring to have Hon. W. J. Bryan address the citizens of that city during his visit to California. If it can be arranged for him to give an address there, people will gather at Sacramento from miles around to hear the distinguished visitor.

The assertion that the trees in the capital square at Carson have been ruined by the insect pests is denied by the capitol commissioners and gardeners. The trees have been thoroughly cleaned and their present appearance shows them to be in a healthy condition.

The Silver State's editorial in another column admitting its error in the criticism of Dr. Stubbs for inviting John J. Valentine and Irving M. Scott of San Francisco to address the students of the University, is a fair and honest statement that the editor had no desire to misrepresent or do Dr. Stubbs any injustice. The manly statement of the editor will make him many friends.

AMERICAN FLAT.

The Terms Offered Claim Owners by the Tunnel Projectors—A Square Business Proposition Which the Claim Owners Should Accept.

Following are the terms offered by the projectors of the proposed American Flat drainage tunnel to American Flat claim owners looking to the organization of the district so as to excavate the tunnel:

"Virginia City, Nevada, office of the American Flat Development Company. To the owners of claims upon the Comstock and other lodes—Gentlemen:

"The undersigned have been appointed a committee by the American Flat Development Company to enter into an agreement with you on the following terms and conditions. Upon the conveyance by you to the American Flat Development Company of an undivided interest equal to two-thirds of the whole of the ———— claims by a good and sufficient deed, the American Flat Development Company will agree to commence within twelve months from the date of such agreement the construction of a tunnel eight thousand (8,000) feet in length, six feet in width and seven feet high in the clear, commencing at the Alta shaft upon the Alta claim, in the Gold Hill Mining District, Storey county, Nevada, and running thence in a south-westerly direction about 8,000 feet, and to complete said tunnel within three years of the commencement thereof, and after the completion of such tunnel, said American Flat Development Company will agree to run a prospecting drift or drifts or other mining constructions from said tunnel into your said mining claim contiguous and upon the level of said tunnel, and to prospect your claim upon said tunnel level, and to advance all the money necessary to do such work, and to charge you nothing therefor unless ore is found on your claim of such quality as to pay the expense of mining and milling the same, and all other expenses necessary to reduce the ore to money, and in case such ore is found said company agrees that it will pay you one-third of the net proceeds thereof, after the said American Flat Development Company has received all of the said expenses. In other words, the American Flat Development Company will do the work and charge you nothing except the said expenses to be taken from the proceeds of the ores, in case there are any."

The terms offered the claim owners constitute a square and generous business proposition, and none of them should hesitate to accept it. If the district is ever to be worked, now is the golden opportunity, and the claim owner who holds back now pursues a dog in the manger policy which redounds to his discredit.

The work of bringing the district into an organized shape is going on slowly but surely, and the projectors of the drainage company deserve hearty praise for their persistence while contending with many disheartening difficulties.

The development of American Flat offers a means of salvation to the Comstock and every man who wishes to continue to live here should heartily help it along.—Virginia Chronicle.

A WEDDING.

A San Francisco Couple Joined Under Nevada Skies.

M. Schwartz and Mrs. Bertha Jacobs, both of San Francisco, were married by Justice Linn yesterday in the law office of Currier & Currier, Judge Currier being an old friend of the groom. Later in the day the happy couple were joined in holy wedlock in accordance with the Jewish rite, Morris Ash, President of the B'nai B'rith Lodge, officiating. The ceremony took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. P. Russak, in the presence of the Jewish families of Reno.

A grand collation followed and the health and happiness of Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz was wished over and over again, while the merry clinking of glasses made fairy-like music and sparkling champagne added life to the occasion.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz were perfect strangers in Reno they found new friends who they seemed to have known always and who were only too glad to give them a hearty welcome and assist them in starting on their matrimonial journey.

The JOURNAL was kindly remembered and good wishes for the happy couple were freely expressed as the types sampled the good things received.

Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz will return to their home at San Francisco to-day.

Yesterday's Shower.

It has been a matter of considerable discussion, since yesterday's storm, whether Lake Tahoe or a pocket edition of the Pacific Ocean was pouring over the town. Everything was afloat and at one time the atmosphere was so filled with water that wooden sidewalks began to float skywards, but were saved by piling stones upon them. It was a frightful downpour for nearly a half hour.

MR. STUBBS' REPLY.

The "Silver State" Admits Its Error. In to-day's issue we publish a communication from J. E. Stubbs, President of the Nevada State University, which is in reply to a recent editorial in the Silver State in which the act of inviting John J. Valentine and Irving M. Scott to address the students of that institution upon the question of "Social Economics" was denounced.

Mr. Stubbs' reply places the matter in a different light from the one we viewed it in when our article was written, as it was written on the information gathered from the Reno Gazette that Mr. Valentine's subject of discourse would be "Social Economics," while it would appear from Mr. Stubbs' article that such is not the case; hence the Silver State desires to temper its former editorial by stating that so long as all points of political differences of opinions are not touched upon by either of the gentlemen, no one has just reason to criticize, and the Silver State is the last paper in the State that desires to cast reflections upon the State University, its management, which it knows nothing about, or anything connected therewith, as the editor is a strong believer in the higher education of our young men and women, and in fact would consider it an admirable move, as a means of showing to the world that we are not afraid of the power of argument to have a joint discussion at some time under the auspices of the University upon the subject of bimetallism, vs. monometallism, between two eminent advocates of the subjects.

Fair play is all the Silver State desires and it will ever raise its voice in its behalf.—Silver State.

"THE FIGHT OF THE CENTURY."

Referee Siler and Lou Rouseman Write on the Big Battle.

George Siler, the referee of the recent fight between James J. Corbett and Robert Fitzsimmons, at Carson City, Nev., March 17, with Lou M. Houseman, sporting editor of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, as collaborator, has just issued a neat graphically illustrated history of the big heavy-weight engagement.

The book with illustrated cover, embraces a complete history of the fight and the circumstances leading up to it. Dan Stuart the promoter of the contest, ordered the work from Siler and Houseman, and it is to be sold at all exhibitions of the pictures of the fight in America and abroad. An "edition du luxe," selling at 25 cents, will be supplemented by a popular edition, 10 cents. Chicago; W. J. Jefferson Print & Pub. Co.

Condensed Testimony.

Chas. B. Hood, Broker and Manufacturers Agent, Columbus, Ohio, certifies that Dr. King's New Discovery has no equal as a cough remedy. J. D. Brown, proprietor of St. James Hotel, Fort Wayne, Ind., testifies that he was cured of a cough of two years standing, caused by La Grippe, by Dr. King's New Discovery. B. F. Merrill, Baldwinville, Mass., says that he has used and recommended it and never knew it to fail, and would rather have it than any doctor, because it always cures. Mrs. Hemming, 222 E. 25th street, Chicago, always keeps it at hand and has no fear of croup because it instantly relieves. Free trial bottles at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

Industrial School Troubles.

Owing to the removal of J. C. Bank from the superintendency of the Preston Industrial School at Ione, Cal., a number of the employees immediately resigned.

Bank is charged with cruelty to the boys, and to bear this out, it is said that five or six of the discharged inmates waited for sometime for an opportunity to assault him, but he kept out of the way. Men went among the boys and asked them to disperse, but they refused and were determined to thrash Bank at any hazard.

The Result of the Late Earthquakes.

The big mud island that suddenly arose from the bed of the ocean, near El Moro, San Luis Obispo county, as a result of the earthquake shocks on last Thursday night, still stands in its original position. A few parties have ventured quite near it, and have noticed that its surface swells and subsides in spots which indicates seismic forces still at work. There is no sign of heat near it and this puzzles the local scientists. No one seems to have any great desire for a very close investigation, but are satisfied to view it at a safe distance.

Wash Berries Thoroughly Before Using.

Several cases of sickness, seemingly the result of poison, have occurred at Oakland in the past few days and physicians who have been called found the symptoms so similar in each case that an investigation was started. A partially satisfactory result was obtained and it is believed that the trouble has come from strawberries on which there was a trace of some poisonous matter used to destroy insects. Traces of Paris green have been found. Berries should be thoroughly washed before served.

Saved by an Unspoken Sermon.

How a sermon did good though it was not preached is told by the Baltimore Herald. The sermon was written by the Rev. D. B. Greigg, and the subject of it—the "Unemployed Masses"—was announced in the usual course in the Saturday papers. One of the papers sent a reporter to Mr. Greigg's house and secured a copy—or perhaps an abstract—of the sermon and put it in type for the Monday issue.

At that time evangelistic services were being conducted throughout the city, and the committee in charge of them sent several speakers to address Mr. Greigg's Sunday evening congregation. He at once gave way to the evangelists, and the sermon he had prepared was not preached, but was laid aside for another occasion. The next morning, however, the daily papers contained a long report of the sermon which was as yet undelivered.

On that particular Monday morning there was in Baltimore a homeless and penniless young Scotchman. Every hour his prospects had seemed to grow darker, and finally desperation crushed out what little hope had been left in his heart. He determined on suicide.

With his last few pennies he purchased poison enough to end all and was leaving the drug store when his eyes fell on a newspaper. "Probably the glance would have been but a passing one if he had not noticed the headline, 'To the Unemployed Masses.' This phrase struck a responsive chord, and he read the abstract of Mr. Greigg's discourse.

Then it occurred to him that a minister who preached such a sermon might be interested in his case. The better man in him rose, and he made up his mind to search out the preacher if only as a last resort.

Securing Mr. Greigg's address, he went to the house and was received with a heartiness that changed desperation into hope. The preacher himself was a Scotchman and listened with interest to the discouraged man's story. What was more, he promised help. He communicated with the Scotch societies of the city, and many hands were extended to the young stranger in distress. He was given temporary aid and finally a position, which he is now worthily filling.

And this was the result of a sermon never preached.

Mary Lyon Dame Hall.

Mrs. Mary Lyon Dame Hall, the new president of Sorosis, and the first to hold office under the law that makes two years instead of one year a term, is not one of the old "Sorosisers," from among whom officers are usually chosen. Mrs. Hall has only been in the club since 1896, but during her membership she has been an energetic worker, and has been conspicuous on various committees. Mrs. Hall is a graduate of Mount Holyoke seminary, for which her father was named, and is active in the ladies' associations of the Madison Square Presbyterian church, of which she is a member. She is much interested in missions and is the widow of E. C. Hall, who went as a lay missionary to Honolulu and later returned, eventually becoming a native minister, first to Kilauea and later to his present home at Honolulu.
